The Griffin Bridges Program

Our Vision

One in five young people living in or near New Jersey's inner cities does not complete his high school or college education. In fact, in some of our largest cities, over fifty percent of students do not graduate from high school, and many of those who do, are not adequately prepared to continue their education or compete successfully for jobs. These young people are often left without hope, thus denying our society and economy of diversity and new talent. Young men, in particular, are most at risk.

Our Mission

Founded as a formal program in 1993, The Griffin Bridges Program provides educational, financial and social support to enable academically talented, financially limited young men from Newark, East Orange, Orange and Irvington to attend Seton Hall Preparatory School, the state's oldest Catholic college preparatory school.

The Griffin Bridges Program is specifically designed to meet the needs of inner-city young men, regardless of race or creed, by providing them with an environment where they can learn, develop and thrive. In addition to a four-year commitment in financial aid, scholars and their families are provided with an extensive support network which includes:

- an Alumni and Corporate Mentoring Program
- a Peer "Big Brother" Program
- a Four-Year Counselor
- a Full-Time Program Director
