

Dear AO Runner –

This is a final email with some errata corrections and a bit of useful information – read it or not ;-).

First, correction errors in the pre-race email novel I sent out earlier – no, I am not running in the race this year, even though the email says that lol. That's a leftover from a cut-and-paste section (since so much information is the same year after year). I'll be in the timing area pretty much the entire race.

No, we're not using shoe tags, or ankle transponders, as a secondary timing option. We're just using the chip that's on the back of your race bib. It will work just fine – provided you wear it correctly. This means wearing it on the front, not the back, of you, wearing it in the proper orientation (not turned sideways), and having it visible to anyone who sees you approaching them.

We'll know soon enough if your timing chip isn't being picked up by the timing equipment lol. But help us out and wear your bib properly – thank you!

Finally, I've added a Race Parking Location image on the race's Runsignup webpage – it's located directly below the Course Map, on the website's front page. This might help you in deciding where to park in the morning. When in doubt, please come ask us!

If you have NOT checked in yet, please do so when you arrive. If you HAVE checked in, you simply need to be in the parking lot, near the timing tent, at 6:45 AM for the pre-race meeting, and then be at the starting line at 7:00 AM. You're golden!

See you in the morning! The park gates will be open by 4:00 AM.
