1. What is Redding, CT \(from Hello Redding\)

Redding, Connecticut is the quietest of quiet towns. You won't find any McMansions here (well maybe a few) nor any McDonalds, nor many street signs for that matter. Granted, you might have to drive more than 5 minutes to get to the nearest grocery store, but with its charms comes slight drawbacks. In Redding, you once would have come across Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain), who lived here in the final years of his life, dying in Redding in 1910. Charlie Morton (current MLB pitcher) grew up here, Daryl Hall and Leonard Bernstein lived here, as did Marvin Lee Aday. Who is Marvin Lee Aday, you ask? Well he, of course, was the famous softball coach at the local high school. He coached his girls' team when he had time away from his side job, as Meat Loaf. Benedict Arnold also passed through the next town over and was one of the heroes in the Battle of Ridgefield -a hero for the Colonists!

Redding in the Wall Street Journal!

By MELANIE LEFKOWITZ

In the decades following World War II, residents of Redding, Conn.—a rural community whose bucolic landscape had long drawn artists and nature-seekers—grew concerned about their town's increasing growth.

Determined to maintain the town's character, local leaders took steps to preserve land and control development. Today, the nearly 50-year-old Redding Land Trust protects roughly 1,600 acres, and around a third of the town's 30,000 acres is dedicated to open space.

"It's quite different, I think, than the rest of Fairfield County," says Leon Karvelis, a town selectman. "If you just dropped down here in a blindfold, you'd think you were in Vermont."

The town of about 9,000 residents remains pastoral, with an extensive network of hiking trails and a handful of working farms. Most of its housing lots are 2 acres or larger. There is little commercial development within Redding, though shops and restaurants in busier towns, including neighboring Ridgefield, are a short drive away.

The town may be quiet, but it isn't sleepy, residents say. Active institutions include the Mark Twain Library, founded by the author, which holds frequent programs as well as a popular annual book sale. The New Pond Farm, a working educational farm, hosts several events. Summertime concerts take place on the town green.

"Everything is small in scale and manageable, but I think we have all the elements of a civilized community," says Mary Anne Guitar, a founder of the Redding Land Trust and a former first selectman.

Situated 55 miles from Manhattan, Redding has a Metro-North station in its West Redding area, from which trains travel to Grand Central Terminal in about 1½ hours. Many also commute to work in Stamford, Greenwich or White Plains, brokers say.

Mark Twain moved to Redding in 1908, and lived in his Italianate mansion, Stormfield, until his death in 1910. The town still attracts many creative types seeking a small-town atmosphere with proximity to New York City, as well as young families drawn by its well-regarded public schools. Most homeowners are full-time residents, but those who own vacation houses in Redding tend to be well-integrated into the town, brokers say.

"It's a place where people come to have privacy, but in a very warm and inviting community," says Virginia Beasley, a former resident and a broker with William Pitt Sotheby's International Realty. "Communities are formed along these country roads—they become very strong neighborhoods."

Real estate consists almost entirely of single-family houses, many of them Colonials, ranging in price from around $350,000 for a small two- or three-bedrooms to $20 million for a large estate on hundreds of acres. The median listing price in Redding in February was $669,000, a 6% increase from the same month in 2013, says Zillow.com. The number of sales has recently picked up, rising by 27% in 2013 from the previous year, says Paul Rabstein of Coldwell Banker Previews International.

Though the town is mostly residential, some shops, restaurants and services can be found along Redding Road in West Redding, and Black Rock Turnpike in the eastern part of the town.

Plans are under way to convert a former wire mill in the Georgetown area of Redding into a mixed-use development that could include businesses, artists' lofts and residences, says Mr. Karvelis. Officials hope the 55-acre site could eventually become a pedestrian-friendly town center.

"It gives us a major opportunity to develop a downtown," Mr. Karvelis says.

Parks: The 280-acre Topstone Park offers swimming, horseback riding, fishing, hiking and camping with permits. It also includes a playground. Putnam Memorial State Park, the site of a winter encampment by continental troops during the Revolutionary War, includes a visitor's center and museum. The 1,756-acre Lucius Pond Ordway/Devil's Den Preserve, operated by the Nature Conservancy, with 20 miles of trails, is in Redding and Weston.

Schools: Redding public schools consist of an elementary and middle school, with a high school shared with the neighboring community of Easton.

4. IMPORTANT PARKING INFORMATION

The way we're going to do parking this year (because of the staggered starts of the 2 races) is to have half marathoners park on the farm and 7 milers park 2/10ths of a mile away at the West Redding Fire Department. It'll work well in that we want to avoid a car pileup of 7 milers waiting for half marathon runners to pass. And as always, we ask you to PLEASE CARPOOL AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE. Each year, I push the registration limit as high as I think parking will allow, and I want everyone to have a parking spot. Mighty Cowers and Piglet Prancer, please park at the farm.

- Huge Tent (40'x80') – From your car, proceed to the big tent and pig up your race bag. We have over 30 volunteers for this process so, it should go smoothly. Find your bib number from the big board (if you don't know it already) and go to the appropriate bib line (based on bib number). After getting all of your gifts, go to the food tent and grab some food, coffee, etc.....or go to the massage tent for a re-race massage.
- Bib - Timing Chip is secured on the back of your personalized bib; so make sure you wear it and keep the bib secured. Also make sure that the chip number on the back matches your race number on the front. Make sure to grab 4 safety pins. There are two different bibs for the two different races. If you switched races, you will still have the other race's bib color, but no worries as it will work properly.
- Bag drop - Located by the big tent where you picked up the runners packet. Alternatively, you can walk your bag back to your car. You can also leave clothes at the start or THE FIRST AID STATION and we will transport them back to baggage pickup.

- Portalets and bathrooms - 25 port-a-lets near the tents, up from 15 last year – LINE UP IN SINGLE FILE LINE BEHIND EACH ONE THIS YEAR – IT'S SPEEDS UP THE PROCESS, BELIEVE ME.
- Pre Race Massages – provided by Tony's Kneaded Touch and his crew in the smaller massage tent located right past the finish line.
- Vendors/sponsors – Located under the tent.
- National Anthem- Will be sung by Eowyn Driscoll at approximately 7:50am under the tent.
- Proceed to start after the national anthem (for halfers). The start is conveniently on the farm this year. 7 milers should proceed to their start after cheering on the halfers as they pass by.

13. A COUPLE FAVORITE RACES

Mother's Day 5k (Norwalk) 5/11

<http://www.hitekracing.com/mothersday10k/>

This Don Capone run race is one of my favorites because it is very flat, well run (as all of Don's races are) and I don't have the pressure of directing it!! Come join us if you can.

Operation Vet Fit (Bethel) May 17th

<http://bethelfitness.com/5k.htm>

This tough but rewarding Bethel 5k is one of my favorite 5k's. It's started by a bunch of revving Harley motorcycles and goes towards a wonderful cause.

17. Runner Story – Alex B.

Alex Beurle is running the 2014 Redding Road Race to kick off training for his 8th NYC Marathon this November. He runs in honor of, and in memory of, a father and a son through Solving Kids' Cancer. Alex runs the NYC Marathon in a very special shirt with a picture of a lovely boy named Hazen Kennedy – the shirt says "Hazen is here". Hazen lost his battle with cancer in 2006 at the young age of 5. Hazen loved to run, and he loved that his dad, Scott Kennedy, ran in the NYC marathon, and he wanted to run the marathon with his dad someday. Hazen and Scott never got that chance. So Scott decided to make a shirt with Hazen's picture and keep running in the NYC marathon – this was Scott's way to be with Hazen and to run in Hazen's memory, and Scott finished the NYC marathon in 2008. In 2009, Scott himself was diagnosed with cancer. Scott had surgery and is now a cancer survivor, but he couldn't run the entire marathon in 2009, so he ran the first 3 miles in his special "Hazen is here" shirt and stopped – this only 10 days after having surgery. In 2010, Scott's oncologist told him he should not run the full marathon, so Scott decided to make a duplicate "Hazen is here" shirt so that Alex could continue to run the NYC Marathon in Hazen's memory.

Alex met Scott through Solving Kids Cancer because of Penelope London. Penelope was a beautiful girl who was in the same pre-school class as Alex's older daughter. Penelope lost her fight with cancer in 2007 at the young age of 4. Penelope's father, John London, co-founded Solving Kids' Cancer with Scott Kennedy in 2007. Two amazing fathers, each of whom lost a beautiful young child to cancer, decided that they would use their knowledge, commitment, passion and resources to help other children and their families fight and win the battle against cancer by starting Solving Kids' Cancer.
