- Half marathon two-person relay: 200 teams
- 5K: 500 registrants

We reserve the right to reduce these caps at any time in order to facilitate a safe event.

- Temperature screening may be required upon entrance to the KI Convention Center on Friday
- Packet pick-up times will be expanded to reduce the concentration of participants (TBD)
- KI Convention Center staff will be following all recommended precautions in their facility
Women's inspiration program will be virtual only, with our keynote speaker streaming live.

Saturday Events

- Participants, volunteers and staff will be required to wear a face covering while picking up packets, congregating pre-race and in start corrals. Plans are underway to include a custom buff as a participant giveaway to function as a face covering.
- Start corrals will be designed to facilitate adequate physical distancing, with fewer than 50 participants per corral
- Corrals will be sent off at a rate of one per minute, spreading out participants to reduce the concentration of runners and walkers on each course; corrals will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis – with the first four corrals being reserved for faster runners and relay participants to ensure a better flow
- Water stations will be self-serve with water bottles (still capped) that will be set on tables by a limited number of volunteers who will be wearing masks and instructed in proper hand sanitizing procedures. There will be no contact between volunteers and walkers or runners
- Finish line food and beverages will be individually packaged and self-serve
- Our awards and post-race party has been cancelled for 2020 and we ask that participants leave the area after recovering and replenishing
- Spectators will be encouraged to space themselves out on the course, and avoid congregating in the finish area
